SECURITY POSES SUMMIT PROBLEM

Twp. Meets With Planner On Impact Of Expressway

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners met with Franklin C. Wood, executive director of the Bucks County Planning commission, last night to discuss the effect of the Delaware Expressway on the municipality.

The discussion was held in executive session. But according to reports, Wood told the commissioners that the State Highway Department is working on detailed plans for the expressway up to Route 413.

Up To Route 413

Nothing definite has been done on plans for the highway from Route 413 north, Wood said.

Wood said the planning commission would make a survey of the first proposed route from Route 413 north and make certain recommendations.

In an open session before their meeting with Wood, the commissioners approved a request for a change in zoning from R-2 residential to commercial. The request was made by Mary E. Cunningham for a tract on Route 13 at Franklin St., Croydon.

Request Withdrawn

Another request made by Veronica D. Tryon was withdrawn. The request had been for a change from residential to commercial. The commissioners indicated she would rather change the tract to M-1 light industrial.

The petitioner said she would amend her application in line with this. The land is 60 acres lying west of the Bristol Cemetery. It is bounded by Route 13 on the south and Newport Road on the north.

Good Evening!

Heat, humidity—tough team.

They make memory of old Cape Cod even more vivid. Now we're sorry we didn't take the hosting of gracious Max Klauser, his lovely wife Senta, and their Dolphin Court the rest of the summer.

However, those marvelous Phillies make the perspiratin' a bit more bearable. You see what they did last night?

Well, sir, they took two from the mighty Giants and with Sanford and Cardwell choring for that twi-night deal this evening, maybe even they could take two more to land 'em solidly in the first division for Mr. Eddie Sawyer.

Khrushchev offers to come to New York for a summit meeting in the U. N. Security Council.

This is one Eisenhower can hardly afford to turn down if for no other reason than that world pressure won't permit him. Hard to admit it, but it seems the Kremlin has scored again in the propaganda war.

It's still a critical situation in the Middle East and it's likely to remain so for some time.

But the more you consider it, the more you wonder how and why Uncle Sam, during the past two years permitted such a deal to develop in the first place.

July skidding on the downside and, do you know, August heralding fading summer will be here sooner than you think.

Crickets singing louder and longer and it's a good sign that the season's getting along.

Middle age is when you go to the drive-in to see . . . a movie?

The boss was fit to be tied. Just beneath the "THINK!" signs he had posted around the office, somebody has carefully written "OR THWIM!"

Husband, during quarrel: "You talk like an idiot!"

Wife: "That's so you can understand me."

If you drive, be careful.

Third Suspect Arrested In Numbers Case

A Levittown man was released under $200 bond to await Bucks County Grand Jury action on two lottery charges.

Thomas M. Procaccino, 31, of 16 Golden Gate Road, Goldenridge, pleaded guilty to the charges.

Bristol Township, county and state police had been hunting for Porcaccino since last Friday. According to police he walked into the headquarters of a numbers ring while police were raiding the place.

Police Charge

Police said Procaccino delivered a package of number slips to a detective. He fled when the detective, who had told him to sit down, answered a telephone, police said.

Police arrested two men during the Friday raid. They are John H. Nocito, 43, of 219 Franklin St., and Nicolas Greco, 62, of 573 Bath St., both of Bristol. They are also being held under bail waiting court action.

Arrested At Work

Procaccino was arrested yesterday at Barker Williamson, a Bristol plant, where he works, making the arrest were County Detective Thawley D. Hayman, Cpl, Andrew Kutney, Fairless Hills State Police, and Detective Charles Shaw, Bristol Township police.

Procaccino was given a hearing before JP Josephine A. Morris of Bensalem Township.

She's Special At Delivery

Mrs. Betty McGonigle, 271 Red Cedar Drive, Levittown, is getting to be something of an expert in the baby delivering business.

Mrs. McGonigle, whose husband James started the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad three years ago, has been a nurse with the squad from its inception.

Last night she was called to the home of Mrs. Carol Dunford, 20 Rain Lilly Road, Red Rose Gate, Levittown.

When Mrs. McGonigle arrived with the rescue squad ambulance there was no time to transport the patient to the hospital. So Mrs. McGonigle did the work herself and a healthy boy was born to Mrs. Dunford at 3:25 a.m.

Mrs. McGonigle, who has three children of her own, said she has been lucky "and always had God's help" with the deliveries.

The mother and son were doing well in Lower Bucks County Hospital today.

AF Hunt Continues For Missile Mouse

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —Air Force planes and Navy recovery boats reported no success today in the south Atlantic search for Wickie the space mouse. The Air Force said the hunt is "still going on."

Wickie, blasted into space at 5:13 p.m. e.s.t. Wednesday in the nose cone of a Thor-Able missile, was the second rodent to be shot through space in a combination military-scientific test.

The recovery package of the Thor-Able nose cone contained a radio transmitter outfitted with a flashing red light and a constant white beam, but if they functioned properly the search force was unable to detect them.

The hunt was being centered about halfway between Ascension Island and the coast of Africa.

The odds favored Wickie's survival on the 6,300-mile trip through the hazards of the unknown outside the earth's atmosphere.

(See Pictures Pages 2, 3, 5)

A spokesman disclosed Wednesday that Wickie's predecessor, another albino female named Laska, lived for 32 minutes after she was blasted into the heavens.

This is the period required for the return of the Thor - Able nose cone to the earth's surface in a 6,300-mile journey. It was believed the last recovery effort failed either because the nose cone's parachute did not open or the baloon designed to suspend the package just below the water failed to inflate.

Heat And Humidity Seen For L. Bucks

The mild but humid weather of the past few days will turn drastically hot but still humid. Temperatures are expected to reach 90.

Fair skies are forecast for tonight by the Trenton Weather Bureau, with cloudy skies and some showers called for tomorrow. The humidity will stay through the week, the weatherman said.

Yesterday's high was 85 at 4 p.m. with this morning's low 70 at 6 a.m.

N. Y. Police Face Biggest Headaches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Security experts here believe it would be difficult but entirely possible to maintain the safety of Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev if he comes to this country for a meeting at the United Nations Security Council.

Should such a meeting take place, President Eisenhower is expected to attend as well as British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The Russian leader announced he also wants Arab leaders and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to join the council discussions on the Middle East crisis.

If all this happens it would result in the biggest police headache since the invention of the billy club.

The burden would fall principally on the New York City police force. But so many other domestic and foreign agents would be involved that a special system would have to be worked out to permit speedy recognition between plainclothes men.

Face Many Problems

Involved in protection of the principals, in addition to the New York police, would be he U.N. security force, the U.S. Secret Service charged with protection of the President, and Federal Bureau of Investigation (it had men quietly behind the scenes at the Big Four meeting in Geneva), security agents of the State Department, and possibly some help from the U.S armed services.

While federal security officials have not been brought formally into tentative security planning by the New York police and U.N. security agents, these were some of the problems and situations being kicked around in government circles:

—Thousands of foreign refugees in the New York area, particularly Hungarians, would try to embarrass Khrushchev. Therefore the Russian leader, assuming he traveled by plane, would have to be landed at an airfield that could be sealed off from the public.

—Because of realistic police problems involved in coping with crowds, Khrushchev could not—without serious difficulty — make any public or professional appearances in New York. Put on any sort of display, the Soviet boss probably would attract crowds as large as ever assembled to see a New York visitor, with the ever-

U.S. Prepares Answer To Summit Note

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today began drafting for submission to its allies a proposed note to Nikita Khrushchev on an East-West summit conference.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were at work on a reply to the Soviet premier's conditional agreement to meet with the West at the United Nations in New York.

Hagerty would give no hint as to the draft's contents. He said he did not expect "any immediate answer" to Khrushchev because this country intends to consult its allies, principally Britain and France, before dispatching a message to the Kremlin.

The general belief here was that a summit meeting will be held but that issues of participation, timing, and subject matter remain to be settled.

Monday Too Soon

It appeared that Khrushchev's proposal that the meeting start on Monday was out. Both in London and Washington the belief was that all the necessary arrangements could not be made by Monday.

The White House gave no indication of the official U.S. attitude toward Khrushchev's demand that Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and chiefs of the Arab states be invited to the meeting.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland denounced the Soviet leader's conditions and said the meeting would turn into "another Munich" of appeasement and defeat if the West accepts them. Knowland particularly dissented from the proposal that Nehru attend.

"We cannot sit idly by and let him (Khrushchev) say who will attend the conference and how it will be conducted," Knowland said. "If we do the United Nations' effectiveness would be severely damaged and it could well go the way of the League of Nations."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the United States should take the lead and insist that both President Gamal Abdel

Army Band To Give Levittown Concert

The United States Army Field Band will make a return visit to Levittown for an outdoor concert on Saturday evening, Aug. 9, in the LPRA Band Shell.

The free concert will be presented at 7:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Levittown Kiwanis Club committee on public and and business affairs. The band shell is located in the Levittown Shopping Center.

The concert program will be one of the highlights of the Kiwanis Club's highway safety campaign. There will be a brief talk on highway safety during the intermission.

The U. S. Army Field Band is considered by music critics to be one of the most proficient and distinctive musical organizations, now appearing before the public. It has traveled almost a million miles in the past 12 years, and is internationally famous, as "The Kings of the Highway."

The Band is composed of more than 100 of the finest musicians in the Army. Several are bandmasters themselves, and a number have played with leading symphonies.

Time Is Running Out!

6 Long Years Have Shown Us Critical Need

An Editorial

We in Lower Bucks county must make the decision NOW.

Shall we remain the bedroom corridor for Philadelphia, Trenton and New York insensitive to lives and welfare of 200,000 people who live here, and callous to incomparable opportunity for building a great and distinguished and proud community?

Or shall we boldly and courageously face up to those realities translatable in terms of golden chance to orbit this rich region into an atmosphere of industrial abundance meaning prosperous business, economic and community expansion by which everyone would benefit?

The proposition is as simple as that.

Its resolution on the wholesome, positive and highly imaginative side is as equally easy.

The undebatable and infallible answer lies in wholehearted and concerted support of the Industrial Development movement whose purpose is to provide more jobs for more people through a broad and enduring program of industrial development and expansion.

Indeed we have no alternative to such support if Lower Bucks county is to grow and to prosper and continue to be a good place in which to live, to work, to play, to do business.

Six long years have demonstrated all too dramatically and too painfully that only by sweat, by elbow grease and by pooling of money, leadership and brains can Lower Bucks attain that industrial eminence to which surely it must be destined.

Six long years have shown all too pitifully that industrial development and expansion can't and won't come for the lazy wishing, for the prayerful dreaming, for the complacent and self-satisfied thinking.

Six long years have proved that, despite our living high on the hog, we have managed to create an army of 9,000 jobless men and women already having an alarming effect on our business and governmental economy, not to mention human suffering and privation walking hand-in-hand with such unemployment.

Six long years have added up to increasing taxes, increasing chaos in school and municipal government structures, increasing incapacity of our taxpayers—large and small—to bear the burden of an ever-increasing tax load.

Six long years have brought nothing but decreasing employment opportunity for our wage earners, decreasing chance for our growing children to build their homes, their lives and their future in this greatest and most desirable chunk of real estate in America—Lower Bucks.

Six long years have added up to this startling and sobering and irrefutable fact:

If we don't get on the industrial development ball IMMEDIATELY we're going to be TOO LATE.

Consider this situation:

Lower Bucks county is already surrounded by dynamic and effective industrial development organizations making every possible pitch with money, brains, manpower and promotion for every available slice of America's constantly expanding industrial melon.

For example:

Trenton, Mercer county, Burlington county, Camden county, Philadelphia, Lehigh county, Northumberland county, Chester county, Montgomery county and Berks county are long since in the industrial development parade and are just a few of the some 200 industrial development agencies in the Pennsylvania-New Jersey area seeking rich industrial advantage for as many communities.

The Bucks County Industrial Development Corporation, a non-profit organization comprised of public-spirited business, industrial, professional and labor leaders, is in business.

The long, low-pressure, gratifying finance campaign to underwrite it, is continuing.

But work of this corporation and its highly salutary program will be only as effective as financial support will permit.

Thus the absolute need of every business, every industry, every labor segment, every profession, everyone in Lower Bucks to join hands in wrapping up this underwriting job.

This financing is not the responsibility of the few.

It is the grave responsibility of the many.

In the name of job opportunity and job security for our people, in the name of stabilizing our tax structures by spreading the burden over more shoulders, in the name of guaranteeing business stability and prosperity, in the name of undergirding the whole future of Lower Bucks, this financing MUST BE DONE.

How much is YOUR contribution?

Bristol Twp. To Enforce Amusement Machine Tax

Police Check For Stamps Starts Monday

By GORDON PARKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township will start enforcing its $60-a-year amusement machine tax on Monday, it was announced today by Police Chief John R. Stewart.

Stewart said police will start checking every business establishment in the township Monday to see that coin operated amusement machines have tax stamps. Prosecutions will be started if any machines are found without the stamps, he said.

He added that the operator or owner of the business establishment in which the machine is located is responsible for paying the tax and will be prosecuted if the tax is not paid.

Stamps Available

"All machines must have a stamp," the chief said "even if they are not in operation. As long as they are in the establishment they are subject to the tax." Stamps are now available in the township building, he pointed out.

Failure to pay the tax can bring up to $100 fine or 30 days in prison for each offense, the chief pointed out.

The amusement tax went into effect on June 2. The township held off enforcement until the tax stamps were available. The same ordinance calls for a $15 a year tax on vending machines. Merchants have appealed this provision of the law. The case is still pending in Bucks County courts.

Aid Available To Distressed Home Owners

Banks are "reluctant" to foreclose mortgages and the Veterans Administration is "more than willing" to aid distressed veteran home owners, it was reported today.

Charles I. Engard, loan guarantee officer for the VA in Philadelphia, said this morning that the VA will do everything possible to help a veteran who through no fault of his own finds it impossible to meet mortgage payments.

James E. Meneses, who represents banks which handle a large number of VA and FHA mortgages in Bucks County, said Tuesday night that the claim of "radical foreclosures" was highly exagerated.

Both statements were a reaction to the Washington visit of 22 Bucks County civic, government and political leaders.

Support Bill

The county group, organized by the Bucks County Women's Democratic Club, went to the nation's capitol to appeal for passage of a House bill that would enable the FHA to take over and extend moratoriums on mortgages of unemployed workers.

In Washington, the county delegation was told the bill under study was modeled after provisions already available to veterans through the VA.

The bank attorney asserts there has only been "a slight increase in the number of home foreclosures in Bucks County." He said the rate of foreclosures has been inflated by statistics that include foreclosures involving bankrupt or defunct builders. He said some of the sales have amounted to 40 a month.

Foreclosure Cost

Meneses further stated it costs a bank $800 to $1,000 to foreclose on a mortgage. "That's why the banks want people to stay in the house and keep making payments," he asserted.

At the VA office, Engard said the VA would refund the loan on a property providing "there is a reasonable opportunity for the owner to make some payments or the assurance that he will continue payments when he is in a position to do so."

The distressed home owners should first contact his lender, usually the bank, Engard said. He should then come to the VA.

Engard said many persons who have lost their homes have done so because they have become over-obligated on installment - plan buying.

"In Levittown," Engard said, "some of the home owners have simply abandoned their homes without consulting the bank or the VA."

Engard said the VA offices at 128 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, are open for consultation from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday. He said further information may be obtained by telephoning LOcust 8-0400.

Hearing Set On Water Line

A public discussion on installation of water and sewerage lines in Old Tullytown will be held at a meeting called for tonight by Tullytown Borough Council.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the Tullytown Fire Hall.

No action is scheduled for the meeting, which will be used by Borough Council to determine public reaction toward the plans.

The need for water and sewerage lines and cost estimates will be discussed.

Recently a large number of Tullytown businessmen announced tentative support for the new services, which would have the old section of the borough using the facilities of the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority.

Old Tullytown is the section of the borough between the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks and the Delaware River. Approximately 180 homes would be affected.

The current plans for water and sewerage lines are the result of public reaction after a fire last winter that destroyed the Tullytown Tavern, damaged several other buildings, and came close to spreading through the central area of the community.

School Tax Bills Go Out In Falls

Residents of Falls Township began receiving their school tax bills the past week which included the three mill school tax hike.

School millage went up from 63 to 66 mills in the 1957-58 budget.

The tax increase means about $6.75 to each taxpayer with an assessed vaulation of $2250, David H. Struble, township tax collector, announced.

Manuel Etisanio Melandez, 17, was in Bucks County Prison today charged with aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill, and carrying a concealed deadly weapon. The charges grew out of a shooting at King Farms, Morrisville, Tuesday afternoon.

Melandez admitted the shooting in the mess hall of the farm to Falls Township Police Chief Franklin P. Kirby.

The victim, Maxamiliamo Torruellas, 29, remained in critical condition at Lower Bucks County Hospital this morning.

Melandez was committed to the prison by Falls Township Justice of the Peace John Melvin when he was unable to raise $2,500 bail.

There was no plea at the hearing since Melandez is a juvenile.

No Joint Appearances

—There could be no joint appearances in public of the President and other leaders. If the heads of state come to New York for the council meeting it would not constitute a state visit to the United States and thus this country would not be in the role of host.

—If the council meeting envisioned by the Russians does take place in New York, it would be quite unlike other "summit" gatherings. It was expected to be completely devoid of social assemblies. The big four, five or six would be most unlikely to entertain each other over drinks and dinner.

—One of the worst security problems would be getting Khrushchev back and forth between U.N. headquarters and the building on Park Ave. where the Russian U.N. delegation maintains its headquarters and where Khrushchev probably would live. Police probably would select a route, seal it off with wooden barriers (except at the more critical traffic intersections) and with police on foot and horseback. Crowds would be kept far from the Russian auto procession.

Levittowner's Wallet Stolen; 2 Boys Held

Two Burlington County juveniles were arrested yesterday on charges of stealing a wallet containing $30 left in the pants pocket of a Levittown man while he was picnicking at Olmypia Lakes, Willingboro Township, N. J.

David A. Schleinkofer, 60 Forest Lane, Levittown, told police he left the wallet in his pants in the picnic area and when he returned it was missing.

The wallet with $28 was found in a nearby woods. The boys admitted spending $2. State Trooper William Baum said the two boys, 13 and 14, of Riverside and Bridgeboro, were released in custody of their parents pending action of the Burlington County Juvenile Courts.

Tullytown Cracks Down On Violators

Tullytown Borough police are continuing their crackdown on motorists who are parking illegally near the State Unemployment Offices on the Levittown Parkway.

Acting Police Chief Pat Coia said today that the motorists are continuing to ignore police warnings by parking in areas marked "no parking" and by parking their cars on pavements and lawns.

Coia reported 37 motorists have been ticketed so far this week.

The Tullytown officer reported that police had erected "no parking" signs and then given motorists a week before enforcing the law.

Coia said Tullytown police also placed warnings on parked cars in the area before the enforcement began. He said the violations are taking place along Levittown Parkway and Lakeside Drive.

"We don't want to take money from unemployed workers but we have to enforce the law and protect property," Coia said.

Summit Note

Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Prime Minister David Ben - Gurion of Israel be included in the conference. He said it "would be anything but realistic" not to include Israel.

The President and Dulles conferred on the reply to Khrushchev by telephone before attending a National Security Council meeting this morning.

It was assumed that the council also discussed the reply.

Hagerty said he did not know whether the reply would be completed and the necessary consultations held in time to transmit it to Moscow today.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is willing to fly to New York to participate in the projected United Nations summit meeting, informed sources said today.

There was no official Egyptian reaction yet to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's condition that Arab heads of state be invited, but the Russian proposal made big headlines in the Arab press.

British today welcomed Nikita Khrushchev's acceptance of the West's summit invitation but said his demand for a meeting in New York next Monday is "unrealistic".

The Foreign Office said in an official statement that Britain is quite prepared for the summit parley "as soon as a special meeting of the Security Council can be conveniently arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with his cabinet to discuss the reply from the Soviet premier.

A common ground of agreement between the United States and Russia was the New York site for the summit talks. Khruschev specifically named the city in his official note to Eisenhower.

The informed view here was that the United States would reject the Honday date as too son to permit adequate preliminary arrangements.

Further, Western leaders, in- John Foster Dulles, are already committe to a series of diplomatic conferences in Europe next week.

Some officials indicated the belief Eisenhower and Dulles would make one more effort to get agreement on limiting the area of discussion to the Middle East.

Steelworker Recovering

John F. Tomchick, 29, of 44 Noblewood Lane, North Park, Levittown, who was injured in an accident at the United States Steel mill July 14 in a furnace explosion, is reported recovering today.

His wife, Mrs. Alice Tomchick, said he suffered head injuries, a spinal cord breakage, and a broken right leg. He is recovering in Lower Bucks County Hospital where his condition is satisfactory.

Mrs. Tomchick said doctors told her that her husband will walk again but it will take six to nine months.

Father Of Three

Tomchick is the father of three children, Alice Elizabeth, 5, Jackie, 3, and Patricia Ann, 16 months.

He has been employed by U.S. Steel for five years and has been a resident for the same amount of time. The family came from Edwardsville, Pa.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Claudia Hanley, 19, of 105 Golden Gate Road, Goldenridge, Levittown, was injured in a three-car crash on Bristol-Emilie Road near the Indian Creek Swimming pool, Levittown, last night.

She was treated at Delaware Valley Hospital, Bristol, for shock and laceration of the right forearm. The Fairless Hill-Levittown Emergency Squad took her to the hospital.

Bristol Township Patrolman Robert Clark reported the car she was driving crashed into the rear of another vehicle operated by Alfred H. Scholz, 28, of 25 Queensbridge Road, Quincy Holly, Levittown.

Scholz had stopped behind another vehicle which had stalled on the road. He was going to push the first car, operated by Jack Morris, 29, of 5 Deep Dale Drive, West. The impact of the crash by Mrs. Hanley's car forced Scholz' vehicle into Morris' car.

Middle East Theme

Leader, Scott Share Legion's Top Billing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gov. George M. Leader and Rep. Hugh Scott, opposing candidates for U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, shared top billing today at the 40th annual convention of the state American Legion in Philadelphia.

The Middle East crisis overshadowing international events struck a chord with both speakers before nearly 5,000 Legionnaires- many of them with a first-hand knowledge of the conditions facing our present forces in Lebanon.

Scott, the Philadelphia Republican, pledged that the United States "will keep its forces in the Middle East until a more permanent solution is reached."

Leader, standard bearer for the Democrats, called upon the Legionnaires to protest against any "budget-firsters" in Washington at the expense of national defense.

The governor declared that before Congress adjourns "I predict it will have done much to strengthen our defense."

He warned that "America is in a race for survival. She has fallen behind in that race because a small but powerful group of men have been obsessed with the idea that the nation faced no challenge so important as the challenge of a balanced budget."

The state chief executive urged the Legionnaires to take an "active part" in the fight against any further red-pencilling of our defense capability.

Addresses Non - Political

The governor's talk was made in the morning session, while Scott's was scheduled in the afternoon so that the two candidates would not come face to face. Although the addresses were "non-political" they were a preview of the forthcoming campaign.

Scott told Legionnaires in a prepared address at Fairmount Park ceremonies hailing foreign generals who helped the U. S. in the Revolutionary War that "in sending our troops to Lebanon, we have answered the plea of a small free nation to save it from annihilation and have once again demonstrated our steadfastness in the quest for freedom for peoples everywhere."

Our watchword, Scott said, must be, "Peace, yes; propaganda, no."

The legionnaires got the convention underway with overtones of the current international turmoil which tempered the traditional revelry.

Unlike last year's convention, however, when John W. Collins, of Connellsville, was elected comcommander by acclamation, there are four candidates — with the frontrunner appearing to be George Bruno, eastern vice commander from Fountain Hill Post 406, Bethlehem.

Others Seek Post

Three past eastern vice commanders also sought the top spot. They are Thomas J. Kkane of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Railroad Post 241; Charles A. Mentzer, New Holland Post, and Paul E. Walters, Post 374, Pine Grove.

Commander Collins told the delegates the department has had a "wonderful year" despite a slight decline in membership.

He blamed "economic conditions" for the loss of about 7,500 members "who just can't afford to remain active because of unemployment or shortened work weeks." The department, however, continues to be the largest in the nation, with some 256,000 members he said.

Committees have whipped a batch of some 50 resolutions into shape for action of the delegates, including constitutional revision, juvenile delinquency, veterans' benefits, and dues increase protests.

Multi-Millionaire

Alan Scaife, Key Figure OF Mellon Dynasty, Dies

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —Alan Magee Scaife, 58, a key figure of the Mellon financial family, died early today of a heart ailment in Magee Hospital.

Scaife, a prime-mover in Pittsburgh's post-war renaissance, had entered the hospital last Thursday.

The multi - millionaire, who maintained homes in Pittsburgh, Ligonier, Pa., and New York City, was the husband of Sarah Mellon, niece of the late Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the Treasury under three presidents.

Scaife was president of the Scaife Corp., and chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Pittsburgh. He had been chairman of the board of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and vice president of Gulf Oil Corp.

At the time of his death, he was a trustee of Mellon Institute, Carnegie Hero Fund Commission and vice chairman of the Greater Pittsburgh Airport Committee.

He was born in Pittsburgh 10 days after the turn of the century. His great - grandfather, Jeffrey Scaife, came to this country from England in 1802 and opened a tin plate shop. Through successive generations, the firm grew and now manufacturers oil furnaces and fuselages for rockets and missiles.

House OK's Revamping Of Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House unanimously approved today a compromise bill granting President Eisenhower powers to reorganize the Defense Department for the nuclear - missile age.

By voice vote, the House approved the measure as drafted by House - Senate conferees. There was no debate. The compromise legislation now goes to the Senate.

It gives the President most of what he asked for but ignores several powers he requested.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee read the House a letter from Eisenhower which said that "except in relatively minor respects, the bill adequately meets every recommendation to the Congress on this subject."

Eisenhower submitted the sweeping reorganization plan at the outset of the current congressional session in the wake of Soviet Sputnik successes. It was a major demand on his part.

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy reported that the Middle East crisis has demonstrated that U.S. defense forces "are ready, and that they can move rapidly to those parts of the world where they are needed".

The secretary made the statement to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. He was recalled for what Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) termed "an audit of the naton's defenses".

Constable Drops Charge

Bristol Constable R. Coles yesterday withdrew charges of obstructing a police officer he had filed against Frank Morgan, of 87 Winder Drive, Winder Village.

Coles had claimed Morgan had refused to admit him to his house when he went there to hold a scheduled constable's sale. When Coles attempted to force his way in he cut his hand.

"Morgan admited he was wrong and had no legal right to do what he did," Coles said. He added that he withdrew the charges voluntarily, when he learned JP Earl B. Dougherty had made arrangements to get a job for Morgan, who had been unemployed for some time.

Coles said there were two levies against Morgan. One was for back rent and the other for a debt owed to a local store. Coles said an arrangement had been worked on the rent.

Of Incendiary Origin, Says Chief Cowell

By JACK SCULLIN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Fire Chief Frank Cowell said yesterday that a fire which destroyed a car and caused an estimated $1,000 damage to garages in Morrisville last Friday night was "of incendiary origin."

He said that the Morrisville fire Prevention Bureau, headed by Chief Rowland Girton, of the Capitol View Fire Company, is making an intensive investigation because the fire "was believed to have been started by someone."

Purposely Started

Cowell, Union Fire Co., chief of the Morrisville Fire Department this year, who alternates with Girton as chief and chairman of the fire prevention bureau each year, said the fire investigation has disclosed that it was purposely started.

"If we find out who started the fire," Cowell declared, "we'll go to the limit of the courts. It depends upon the jury and the extent of the fire as to what punishment is handed out."

Firemen extinguished the blaze between East Palmer and East Franklin Sts. last week and immediately launched an investigation.

Cowell said that the recent $20,000 fire which gutted an apartment building at the corner of South Pennsylvania Ave. and Green St. was started by a nine-year old boy.

Records Kept

He said that parents of the youngster have been notified and warned.

The chief said that the department keeps a record of all fires and that information is kept which can be referred to at any time.

He also issued a warning on false alarms.

"We have had a few false alarms turned in lately," he said, "and those caught in this practice will also be dealt with severely. The firemen are volunteers, receive no pay and a false alarm not only endangers their lives but is costly to equipment."

Cowell said that residents should remove excess litter around their homes in order to avert the danger of fire. He pointed out that old refrigerators in the cellar many times spring leaks and ammonia gas is dangerous.

He said that Makefield Road at both points had been desginated a stop street for a number of years and until the public gets acclimiated to the change only warnings will be given.

He pointed out that there have been quite a few accidents at the intersections.

The adjustment board denied the request of Louis Cahan, Trenton, to build a 36-unit apartment building on Delaware Ave. Estimated cost of the project was $200,000.

SECURITY POSES SUMMIT PROBLEM

Twp. Meets With Planner On Impact Of Expressway

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners met with Franklin C. Wood, executive director of the Bucks County Planning commission, last night to discuss the effect of the Delaware Expressway on the municipality.

The discussion was held in executive session. But according to reports, Wood told the commissioners that the State Highway Department is working on detailed plans for the expressway up to Route 413.

Up To Route 413

Nothing definite has been done on plans for the highway from Route 413 north, Wood said.

Wood said the planning commission would make a survey of the first proposed route from Route 413 north and make certain recommendations.

In an open session before their meeting with Wood, the commissioners approved a request for a change in zoning from R-2 residential to commercial. The request was made by Mary E. Cunningham for a tract on Route 13 at Franklin St., Croydon.

Request Withdrawn

Another request made by Veronica D. Tryon was withdrawn. The request had been for a change from residential to commercial. The commissioners indicated she would rather change the tract to M-1 light industrial.

The petitioner said she would amend her application in line with this. The land is 60 acres lying west of the Bristol Cemetery. It is bounded by Route 13 on the south and Newport Road on the north.

Well, sir, they took two from the mighty Giants and with Sanford and Cardwell choring for that twi-night deal this evening, maybe even they could take two more to land 'em solidly in the first division for Mr. Eddie Sawyer.

Khrushchev offers to come to New York for a summit meeting in the U. N. Security Council.

This is one Eisenhower can hardly afford to turn down if for no other reason than that world pressure won't permit him. Hard to admit it, but it seems the Kremlin has scored again in the propaganda war.

It's still a critical situation in the Middle East and it's likely to remain so for some time.

But the more you consider it, the more you wonder how and why Uncle Sam, during the past two years permitted such a deal to develop in the first place.

July skidding on the downside and, do you know, August heralding fading summer will be here sooner than you think.

Third Suspect Arrested In Numbers Case

A Levittown man was released under $200 bond to await Bucks County Grand Jury action on two lottery charges.

Thomas M. Procaccino, 31, of 16 Golden Gate Road, Goldenridge, pleaded guilty to the charges.

Bristol Township, county and state police had been hunting for Porcaccino since last Friday. According to police he walked into the headquarters of a numbers ring while police were raiding the place.

Police Charge

Police said Procaccino delivered a package of number slips to a detective. He fled when the detective, who had told him to sit down, answered a telephone, police said.

Police arrested two men during the Friday raid. They are John H. Nocito, 43, of 219 Franklin St., and Nicolas Greco, 62, of 573 Bath St., both of Bristol. They are also being held under bail waiting court action.

Arrested At Work

Procaccino was arrested yesterday at Barker Williamson, a Bristol plant, where he works, making the arrest were County Detective Thawley D. Hayman, Cpl, Andrew Kutney, Fairless Hills State Police, and Detective Charles Shaw, Bristol Township police.

Procaccino was given a hearing before JP Josephine A. Morris of Bensalem Township.

She's Special At Delivery

Mrs. Betty McGonigle, 271 Red Cedar Drive, Levittown, is getting to be something of an expert in the baby delivering business.

Mrs. McGonigle, whose husband James started the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad three years ago, has been a nurse with the squad from its inception.

Last night she was called to the home of Mrs. Carol Dunford, 20 Rain Lilly Road, Red Rose Gate, Levittown.

When Mrs. McGonigle arrived with the rescue squad ambulance there was no time to transport the patient to the hospital. So Mrs. McGonigle did the work herself and a healthy boy was born to Mrs. Dunford at 3:25 a.m.

Mrs. McGonigle, who has three children of her own, said she has been lucky "and always had God's help" with the deliveries.

The mother and son were doing well in Lower Bucks County Hospital today.

AF Hunt Continues For Missile Mouse

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —Air Force planes and Navy recovery boats reported no success today in the south Atlantic search for Wickie the space mouse. The Air Force said the hunt is "still going on."

Wickie, blasted into space at 5:13 p.m. e.s.t. Wednesday in the nose cone of a Thor-Able missile, was the second rodent to be shot through space in a combination military-scientific test.

The recovery package of the Thor-Able nose cone contained a radio transmitter outfitted with a flashing red light and a constant white beam, but if they functioned properly the search force was unable to detect them.

The hunt was being centered about halfway between Ascension Island and the coast of Africa.

The odds favored Wickie's survival on the 6,300-mile trip through the hazards of the unknown outside the earth's atmosphere.

A spokesman disclosed Wednesday that Wickie's predecessor, another albino female named Laska, lived for 32 minutes after she was blasted into the heavens.

This is the period required for the return of the Thor - Able nose cone to the earth's surface in a 6,300-mile journey. It was believed the last recovery effort failed either because the nose cone's parachute did not open or the baloon designed to suspend the package just below the water failed to inflate.

N. Y. Police Face Biggest Headaches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Security experts here believe it would be difficult but entirely possible to maintain the safety of Soviet Premier Nikita Krushchev if he comes to this country for a meeting at the United Nations Security Council.

Should such a meeting take place, President Eisenhower is expected to attend as well as British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The Russian leader announced he also wants Arab leaders and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to join the council discussions on the Middle East crisis.

If all this happens it would result in the biggest police headache since the invention of the billy club.

The burden would fall principally on the New York City police force. But so many other domestic and foreign agents would be involved that a special system would have to be worked out to permit speedy recognition between plainclothes men.

Face Many Problems

Involved in protection of the principals, in addition to the New York police, would be he U.N. security force, the U.S. Secret Service charged with protection of the President, and Federal Bureau of Investigation (it had men quietly behind the scenes at the Big Four meeting in Geneva), security agents of the State Department, and possibly some help from the U.S armed services.

While federal security officials have not been brought formally into tentative security planning by the New York police and U.N. security agents, these were some of the problems and situations being kicked around in government circles:

—Thousands of foreign refugees in the New York area, particularly Hungarians, would try to embarrass Khrushchev. Therefore the Russian leader, assuming he traveled by plane, would have to be landed at an airfield that could be sealed off from the public.

—Because of realistic police problems involved in coping with crowds, Khrushchev could not—without serious difficulty — make any public or professional appearances in New York. Put on any sort of display, the Soviet boss probably would attract crowds as large as ever assembled to see a New York visitor, with the ever-

U.S. Prepares Answer To Summit Note

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today began drafting for submission to its allies a proposed note to Nikita Khrushchev on an East-West summit conference.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were at work on a reply to the Soviet premier's conditional agreement to meet with the West at the United Nations in New York.

Hagerty would give no hint as to the draft's contents. He said he did not expect "any immediate answer" to Khrushchev because this country intends to consult its allies, principally Britain and France, before dispatching a message to the Kremlin.

The general belief here was that a summit meeting will be held but that issues of participation, timing, and subject matter remain to be settled.

Monday Too Soon

It appeared that Khrushchev's proposal that the meeting start on Monday was out. Both in London and Washington the belief was that all the necessary arrangements could not be made by Monday.

The White House gave no indication of the official U.S. attitude toward Khrushchev's demand that Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and chiefs of the Arab states be invited to the meeting.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland denounced the Soviet leader's conditions and said the meeting would turn into "another Munich" of appeasement and defeat if the West accepts them. Knowland particularly dissented from the proposal that Nehru attend.

"We cannot sit idly by and let him (Khrushchev) say who will attend the conference and how it will be conducted," Knowland said. "If we do the United Nations' effectiveness would be severely damaged and it could well go the way of the League of Nations."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the United States should take the lead and insist that both President Gamal Abdel

The Band is composed of more than 100 of the finest musicians in the Army. Several are bandmasters themselves, and a number have played with leading symphonies.

Time Is Running Out!

6 Long Years Have Shown Us Critical Need

An Editorial

We in Lower Bucks county must make the decision NOW.

Shall we remain the bedroom corridor for Philadelphia, Trenton and New York insensitive to lives and welfare of 200,000 people who live here, and callous to incomparable opportunity for building a great and distinguished and proud community?

Or shall we boldly and courageously face up to those realities translatable in terms of golden chance to orbit this rich region into an atmosphere of industrial abundance meaning prosperous business, economic and community expansion by which everyone would benefit?

The proposition is as simple as that.

Its resolution on the wholesome, positive and highly imaginative side is as equally easy.

The undebatable and infallible answer lies in wholehearted and concerted support of the Industrial Development movement whose purpose is to provide more jobs for more people through a broad and enduring program of industrial development and expansion.

Indeed we have no alternative to such support if Lower Bucks county is to grow and to prosper and continue to be a good place in which to live, to work, to play, to do business.

Six long years have demonstrated all too dramatically and too painfully that only by sweat, by elbow grease and by pooling of money, leadership and brains can Lower Bucks attain that industrial eminence to which surely it must be destined.

Six long years have shown all too pitifully that industrial development and expansion can't and won't come for the lazy wishing, for the prayerful dreaming, for the complacent and self-satisfied thinking.

Six long years have proved that, despite our living high on the hog, we have managed to create an army of 9,000 jobless men and women already having an alarming effect on our business and governmental economy, not to mention human suffering and privation walking hand-in-hand with such unemployment.

Six long years have added up to increasing taxes, increasing chaos in school and municipal government structures, increasing incapacity of our taxpayers—large and small—to bear the burden of an ever-increasing tax load.

Six long years have brought nothing but decreasing employment opportunity for our wage earners, decreasing chance for our growing children to build their homes, their lives and their future in this greatest and most desirable chunk of real estate in America—Lower Bucks.

Six long years have added up to this startling and sobering and irrefutable fact:

If we don't get on the industrial development ball IMMEDIATELY we're going to be TOO LATE.

Consider this situation:

Lower Bucks county is already surrounded by dynamic and effective industrial development organizations making every possible pitch with money, brains, manpower and promotion for every available slice of America's constantly expanding industrial melon.

For example:

Trenton, Mercer county, Burlington county, Camden county, Philadelphia, Lehigh county, Northumberland county, Chester county, Montgomery county and Berks county are long since in the industrial development parade and are just a few of the some 200 industrial development agencies in the Pennsylvania-New Jersey area seeking rich industrial advantage for as many communities.

The Bucks County Industrial Development Corporation, a non-profit organization comprised of public-spirited business, industrial, professional and labor leaders, is in business.

The long, low-pressure, gratifying finance campaign to underwrite it, is continuing.

But work of this corporation and its highly salutary program will be only as effective as financial support will permit.

Thus the absolute need of every business, every industry, every labor segment, every profession, everyone in Lower Bucks to join hands in wrapping up this underwriting job.

This financing is not the responsibility of the few.

It is the grave responsibility of the many.

In the name of job opportunity and job security for our people, in the name of stabilizing our tax structures by spreading the burden over more shoulders, in the name of guaranteeing business stability and prosperity, in the name of undergirding the whole future of Lower Bucks, this financing MUST BE DONE.

How much is YOUR contribution?

Bristol Twp. To Enforce Amusement Machine Tax

Police Check For Stamps Starts Monday

By GORDON PARKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township will start enforcing its $60-a-year amusement machine tax on Monday, it was announced today by Police Chief John R. Stewart.

Stewart said police will start checking every business establishment in the township Monday to see that coin operated amusement machines have tax stamps. Prosecutions will be started if any machines are found without the stamps, he said.

He added that the operator or owner of the business establishment in which the machine is located is responsible for paying the tax and will be prosecuted if the tax is not paid.

Stamps Available

"All machines must have a stamp," the chief said "even if they are not in operation. As long as they are in the establishment they are subject to the tax." Stamps are now available in the township building, he pointed out.

Failure to pay the tax can bring up to $100 fine or 30 days in prison for each offense, the chief pointed out.

The amusement tax went into effect on June 2. The township held off enforcement until the tax stamps were available. The same ordinance calls for a $15 a year tax on vending machines. Merchants have appealed this provision of the law. The case is still pending in Bucks County courts.

Aid Available To Distressed Home Owners

Banks are "reluctant" to foreclose mortgages and the Veterans Administration is "more than willing" to aid distressed veteran home owners, it was reported today.

Charles I. Engard, loan guarantee officer for the VA in Philadelphia, said this morning that the VA will do everything possible to help a veteran who through no fault of his own finds it impossible to meet mortgage payments.

James E. Meneses, who represents banks which handle a large number of VA and FHA mortgages in Bucks County, said Tuesday night that the claim of "radical foreclosures" was highly exagerated.

Both statements were a reaction to the Washington visit of 22 Bucks County civic, government and political leaders.

Support Bill

The county group, organized by the Bucks County Women's Democratic Club, went to the nation's capitol to appeal for passage of a House bill that would enable the FHA to take over and extend moratoriums on mortgages of unemployed workers.

In Washington, the county delegation was told the bill under study was modeled after provisions already available to veterans through the VA.

The bank attorney asserts there has only been "a slight increase in the number of home foreclosures in Bucks County." He said the rate of foreclosures has been inflated by statistics that include foreclosures involving bankrupt or defunct builders. He said some of the sales have amounted to 40 a month.

Foreclosure Cost

Meneses further stated it costs a bank $800 to $,000 to foreclose on a mortgage. "That's why the banks want people to stay in the house and keep making payments," he asserted.

At the VA office, Engard said the VA would refund the loan on a property providing "there is a reasonable opportunity for the owner to make some payments or the assurance that he will continue payments when he is in a position to do so."

The distressed home owners should first contact his lender, usually the bank, Engard said. He should then come to the VA.

Engard said many persons who have lost their homes have done so because they have become over-obligated on installment - plan buying.

"In Levittown," Engard said, "some of the home owners have simply abandoned their homes without consulting the bank or the VA."

Engard said the VA offices at 128 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, are open for consultation from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday. He said further information may be obtained by telephoning LOcust 8-0400.

Shooting Assailant In Prison

Manuel Etisanio Melandez, 17, was in Bucks County Prison today charged with aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill, and carrying a concealed deadly weapon. The charges grew out of a shooting at King Farms, Morrisville, Tuesday afternoon.

Melandez admitted the shooting in the mess hall of the farm to Falls Township Police Chief Franklin P. Kirby.

The victim, Maxamiliamo Torruellas, 29, remained in critical condition at Lower Bucks County Hospital this morning.

Melandez was committed to the prison by Falls Township Justice of the Peace John Melvin when he was unable to raise $2,500 bail.

There was no plea at the hearing since Melandez is a juvenile.

No Joint Appearances

—There could be no joint appearances in public of the President and other leaders. If the heads of state come to New York for the council meeting it would not constitute a state visit to the United States and thus this country would not be in the role of host.

—If the council meeting envisioned by the Russians does take place in New York, it would be quite unlike other "summit" gatherings. It was expected to be completely devoid of social assemblies. The big four, five or six would be most unlikely to entertain each other over drinks and dinner.

—One of the worst security problems would be getting Khrushchev back and forth between U.N. headquarters and the building on Park Ave. where the Russian U.N. delegation maintains its headquarters and where Khrushchev probably would live. Police probably would select a route, seal it off with wooden barriers (except at the more critical traffic intersections) and with police on foot and horseback. Crowds would be kept far from the Russian auto procession.

Levittowner's Wallet Stolen; 2 Boys Held

Two Burlington County juveniles were arrested yesterday on charges of stealing a wallet containing $30 left in the pants pocket of a Levittown man while he was picnicking at Olmypia Lakes, Willingboro Township, N. J.

David A. Schleinkofer, 60 Forest Lane, Levittown, told police he left the wallet in his pants in the picnic area and when he returned it was missing.

The wallet with $28 was found in a nearby woods. The boys admitted spending $2. State Trooper William Baum said the two boys, 13 and 14, of Riverside and Bridgeboro, were released in custody of their parents pending action of the Burlington County Juvenile Courts.

Tullytown Cracks Down On Violators

Tullytown Borough police are continuing their crackdown on motorists who are parking illegally near the State Unemployment Offices on the Levittown Parkway.

Acting Police Chief Pat Coia said today that the motorists are continuing to ignore police warnings by parking in areas marked "no parking" and by parking their cars on pavements and lawns.

Coia reported 37 motorists have been ticketed so far this week.

The Tullytown officer reported that police had erected "no parking" signs and then given motorists a week before enforcing the law.

Coia said Tullytown police also placed warnings on parked cars in the area before the enforcement began. He said the violations are taking place along Levittown Parkway and Lakeside Drive.

"We don't want to take money from unemployed workers but we have to enforce the law and protect property," Coia said.

Summit Note

Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Prime Minister David Ben - Gurion of Israel be included in the conference. He said it "would be anything but realistic" not to include Israel.

The President and Dulles conferred on the reply to Khrushchev by telephone before attending a National Security Council meeting this morning.

It was assumed that the council also discussed the reply.

Hagerty said he did not know whether the reply would be completed and the necessary consultations held in time to transmit it to Moscow today.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is willing to fly to New York to participate in the projected United Nations summit meeting, informed sources said today.

There was no official Egyptian reaction yet to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's condition that Arab heads of state be invited, but the Russian proposal made big headlines in the Arab press.

British today welcomed Nikita Khrushchev's acceptance of the West's summit invitation but said his demand for a meeting in New York next Monday is "unrealistic".

The Foreign Office said in an official statement that Britain is quite prepared for the summit parley "as soon as a special meeting of the Security Council can be conveniently arranged."

The statement was issued after Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with his cabinet to discuss the reply from the Soviet premier.

A common ground of agreement between the United States and Russia was the New York site for the summit talks. Khruschev specifically named the city in his official note to Eisenhower.

The informed view here was that the United States would reject the Honday date as too son to permit adequate preliminary arrangements.

Further, Western leaders, in- John Foster Dulles, are already committe to a series of diplomatic conferences in Europe next week.

Some officials indicated the belief Eisenhower and Dulles would make one more effort to get agreement on limiting the area of discussion to the Middle East.

Hearing Set On Water Line

A public discussion on installation of water and sewerage lines in Old Tullytown will be held at a meeting called for tonight by Tullytown Borough Council.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the Tullytown Fire Hall.

No action is scheduled for the meeting, which will be used by Borough Council to determine public reaction toward the plans.

The need for water and sewerage lines and cost estimates will be discussed.

Recently a large number of Tullytown businessmen announced tentative support for the new services, which would have the old section of the borough using the facilities of the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority.

Old Tullytown is the section of the borough between the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks and the Delaware River. Approximately 180 homes would be affected.

The current plans for water and sewerage lines are the result of public reaction after a fire last winter that destroyed the Tullytown Tavern, damaged several other buildings, and came close to spreading through the central area of the community.

Woman Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Claudia Hanley, 19, of 105 Golden Gate Road, Goldenridge, Levittown, was injured in a three-car crash on Bristol-Emilie Road near the Indian Creek Swimming pool, Levittown, last night.

She was treated at Delaware Valley Hospital, Bristol, for shock and laceration of the right forearm. The Fairless Hill-Levittown Emergency Squad took her to the hospital.

Bristol Township Patrolman Robert Clark reported the car she was driving crashed into the rear of another vehicle operated by Alfred H. Scholz, 28, of 25 Queensbridge Road, Quincy Holly, Levittown.

Scholz had stopped behind another vehicle which had stalled on the road. He was going to push the first car, operated by Jack Morris, 29, of 5 Deep Dale Drive, West. The impact of the crash by Mrs. Hanley's car forced Scholz' vehicle into Morris' car.

Middle East Theme

Leader, Scott Share Legion's Top Billing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Gov. George M. Leader and Rep. Hugh Scott, opposing candidates for U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, shared top billing today at the 40th annual convention of the state American Legion in Philadelphia.

The Middle East crisis overshadowing international events struck a chord with both speakers before nearly 5,000 Legionnaires- many of them with a first-hand knowledge of the conditions facing our present forces in Lebanon.

Scott, the Philadelphia Republican, pledged that the United States "will keep its forces in the Middle East until a more permanent solution is reached."

Leader, standard bearer for the Democrats, called upon the Legionnaires to protest against any "budget-firsters" in Washington at the expense of national defense.

The governor declared that before Congress adjourns "I predict it will have done much to strengthen our defense."

He warned that "America is in a race for survival. She has fallen behind in that race because a small but powerful group of men have been obsessed with the idea that the nation faced no challenge so important as the challenge of a balanced budget."

The state chief executive urged the Legionnaires to take an "active part" in the fight against any further red-pencilling of our defense capability.

Addresses Non - Political

The governor's talk was made in the morning session, while Scott's was scheduled in the afternoon so that the two candidates would not come face to face. Although the addresses were "non-political" they were a preview of the forthcoming campaign.

Scott told Legionnaires in a prepared address at Fairmount Park ceremonies hailing foreign generals who helped the U. S. in the Revolutionary War that "in sending our troops to Lebanon, we have answered the plea of a small free nation to save it from annihilation and have once again demonstrated our steadfastness in the quest for freedom for peoples everywhere."

Our watchword, Scott said, must be, "Peace, yes; propaganda, no."

The legionnaires got the convention underway with overtones of the current international turmoil which tempered the traditional revelry.

Unlike last year's convention, however, when John W. Collins, of Connellsville, was elected comcomander by acclamation, there are four candidates — with the frontrunner appearing to be George Bruno, eastern vice commander from Fountain Hill Post 406, Bethlehem.

Others Seek Post

Three past eastern vice commanders also sought the top spot. They are Thomas J. Kkane of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Railroad Post 241; Charles A. Mentzer, New Holland Post, and Paul E. Walters, Post 374, Pine Grove.

Commander Collins told the delegates the department has had a "wonderful year" despite a slight decline in membership.

He blamed "economic conditions" for the loss of about 7,500 members "who just can't afford to remain active because of unemployment or shortened work weeks." The department, however, continues to be the largest in the nation, with some 256,000 members he said.

Committees have whipped a batch of some 50 resolutions into shape for action of the delegates, including constitutional revision, juvenile delinquency, veterans' benefits, and dues increase protests.

An electric range in the home of William Gimbel, 51 Nutmeg Lane, North Park, Levittown, shorted out and caused a small fire yesterday afternoon in the house.

House OK's Revamping Of Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House unanimously approved today a compromise bill granting President Eisenhower powers to reorganize the Defense Department for the nuclear - missile age.

By voice vote, the House approved the measure as drafted by House - Senate conferees. There was no debate. The compromise legislation now goes to the Senate.

It gives the President most of what he asked for but ignores several powers he requested.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee read the House a letter from Eisenhower which said that "except in relatively minor respects, the bill adequately meets every recommendation to the Congress on this subject."

Eisenhower submitted the sweeping reorganization plan at the outset of the current congressional session in the wake of Soviet Sputnik successes. It was a major demand on his part.

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy reported that the Middle East crisis has demonstrated that U.S. defense forces "are ready, and that they can move rapidly to those parts of the world where they are needed".

The secretary made the statement to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. He was recalled for what Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) termed "an audit of the naton's defenses".

Constable Drops Charge

Bristol Constable R. Coles yesterday withdrew charges of obstructing a police officer he had filed against Frank Morgan, of 87 Winder Drive, Winder Village.

Coles had claimed Morgan had refused to admit him to his house when he went there to hold a scheduled constable's sale. When Coles attempted to force his way in he cut his hand.

"Morgan admited he was wrong and had no legal right to do what he did," Coles said. He added that he withdrew the charges voluntarily, when he learned JP Earl B. Dougherty had made arrangements to get a job for Morgan, who had been unemployed for some time.

Coles said there were two levies against Morgan. One was for back rent and the other for a debt owed to a local store. Coles said an arrangement had been worked on the rent.

Of Incendiary Origin, Says Chief Cowell

By JACK SCULLIN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Fire Chief Frank Cowell said yesterday that a fire which destroyed a car and caused an estimated $1,000 damage to garages in Morrisville last Friday night was "of incendiary origin."

He said that the Morrisville fire Prevention Bureau, headed by Chief Rowland Girton, of the Capitol View Fire Company, is making an intensive investigation because the fire "was believed to have been started by someone."

Purposely Started

Cowell, Union Fire Co., chief of the Morrisville Fire Department this year, who alternates with Girton as chief and chairman of the fire prevention bureau each year, said the fire investigation has disclosed that it was purposely started.

"If we find out who started the fire," Cowell declared, "we'll go to the limit of the courts. It depends upon the jury and the extent of the fire as to what punishment is handed out."

Firemen extinguished the blaze between East Palmer and East Franklin Sts. last week and immediately launched an investigation.

Cowell said that the recent $20,000 fire which gutted an apartment building at the corner of South Pennsylvania Ave. and Green St. was started by a nine-year old boy.

Records Kept

He said that parents of the youngster have been notified and warned.

The chief said that the department keeps a record of all fires and that information is kept which can be referred to at any time.

He also issued a warning on false alarms.

"We have had a few false alarms turned in lately," he said, "and those caught in this practice will also be dealt with severely. The firemen are volunteers, receive no pay and a false alarm not only endangers their lives but is costly to equipment."

Cowell said that residents should remove excess litter around their homes in order to avert the danger of fire. He pointed out that old refrigerators in the cellar many times spring leaks and ammonia gas is dangerous.

He said that Makefield Road at both points had been desginated a stop street for a number of years and until the public gets acclimiated to the change only warnings will be given.

He pointed out that there have been quite a few accidents at the intersections.

John P. Fullam, Commission chairman, said that Feaster in his letter of resignation indicated that although he had attained a return to normalcy from a recent illness he had decieed to return to the practice of law.

Fullam said that William R. Johnson, 37, of 37 Manor Lane North, Lower Makefield Township, who was appointed acting executive director on July 17, would continue to serve in that capacity at the pleasure of the Commission.
